

Abstract of the Disclosure:

In the novel device and the novel method the data to be transmitted is transmitted in units together with information that is required or useful for the transmission and/or the use
5 of the data. At least some of the units comprise at least one region which defines a time slot within which freely selectable devices can output onto the bus data representing freely selectable information at freely selectable points in time.

2001-06-14 14:26:30

WHS:tk - 00p12246F//6/14/2001